An Architect of Time

Just as a gifted space planner can be given 3000 feet of open office space – and by adding divisions, structures and furniture, they can create more space than was there before, so Judaism does the same with time. Judaism is a brilliant architect of time – the architect of time – the Shabbat its major work of art.

Shabbat works to create more time – by adding divisions and structures – by setting it off from the rest of the week. Shabbat works. Only, honestly, with one condition. You have to stick to it. Like any great relationship, it doesn’t work without commitment.
